

Stratovate Group
Where Strategy Meets Innovation

Facilitative Change Model is the Stratovate Group's Change Management Model. It incorporates a set of tools that assist individuals and organizations to effectively traverse the stages of change to achieve positive results.

Traditional State

- This phase is where an organization has a traditional value set, but has identified the need for a change.

Organizational Shift

- The transitional state between the current state and ideal state. This is a critical phase and decides the future success of initiative(s).

Positive Change

- The phase in which you achieve organizational success. Stratovate Group has developed a process and tools to help you effectively reach your positive change.
